THE WORK AND WAYS OF WASH-INGTON OFFICIALS.

sion—The Naval Struggle—The Public ter-General Curtis' Case—The Ways and Means Committee, Bio., Etc.

WASHINGTON, Nvoember 16 .- In less than three weeks congress will re-assemble. Senators and members are already beginning to arrive and make their arrangements for the winter, and in a week or two more the town will be made lively with congressmen and their hangers on. It is expected that the short session will be a very busy one and people are beginning to discuss the legislation which will engage the attention of congress. The ways and means and appropriation committees of the house will meet here at least a mittees of the house will meet here at least a week before congress assembles. The estimates of the various departments will be printed by that time and placed before the committee on appropriations, so that by the time the house meets some of the smaller appropriation bills can be reported. There are eleven regular bills, and the committee hope to be able to report and have passed by the house at least five of these before the holiday recess. Colonel Robert J. Stevens, who has long been in the service of this committee, said the appropriation bills would not result the service of the said the appropriation bills would not require as much time for their preparation as they did last session, as the heaviest work of the committee had already been accomplished, and unless there should accomplished, and unless there should be an effort on the part of the minority to obstruct their passage, they could easily be disposed of by the 4th of March, when this congress expires. The democrats will be anxious to reorganize the house as soon as possible after this congress expires, and may force the president to call an extra session by pre-venting the passage of the appropriation bills this session. It is thought, however, that such a course would react upon them and do their party more harm than good. A great effort will undoubtedly be made by the republicans this session to pass a tariff bill and an internal revenue reduction bill, and, to take preliminary steps for the former, the ways and means committee will meet in ade of the session. It is said the democrats will try to prevent this, as they will want this egislation reserved for themselves in the rext ngress, and all the credit of it before the ountry. As a party measure it is said that a sertain democratic member will introduce a sill on civil service reform. The proposed seasure originated in Boston, and will prode that every employe of the government all be given a commission which will enti-e him to hold his position on good behavior four years from the date of the commis-n. It is not expected, of course, that this appropriations committee have been noti-by the clerk, Mr. Stevens, to meet in Ashington on the 28th inst., in accordance ith the request of the chairman, Mr Frank inscock. Mr. Hiscock being one of the speal committee appointed last session to examine and report upon the Mississippi river improvements, he is now absent from this city, but will return from that trip in time for the meeting. It is doubtful whether all the estimates of the departments will be ready on the date appointed for the committee to meet, or that they will be in shape on the first Monday in December, as is required by law. The extractive legislation of the first Monday in December, as is required by law. The extensive legislation of last session increased considerably the labor of the different burcaus, and is to a great extent the cause of the delay. On account of the exhaustive revision made by congress, however, the labors of ithe committee will be considerably lightened, and it is possible that the bills of last session will be substantially delayed. tially adopted. The estimates for the coming year will include nearly nine-tenths of all those appropriations which have heretofore been known as indefinite, but which are now in such shape as to permit some degree of defiiteness in their calculation. As all the indefinnite matters heretofore provided for in the statutes under what was known as permanent appropriations will be included in the estimates to be sent to congress next month. the book of estimates prepared by the secre-tary of the treasury will be largely increased in bulk.

SAVED FROM A WRECK.
WASHINGTON, November 14.—The treasury department has just received from the trustee of the bankrupt estate of Jry Cooke & Co. the sum of $2,500, in payment of a claim of $2,000. An interesting story is told in connection with the case. In 1874 Mr. Mason proposed to compromise his indebtedness to the government on official account by the payment of $2,000. His friend, one Seymour, of Boston, brought the money to Washington for the purpose, but the department routine being slow the money was deposited with Jay Cooke & Co. by Seymour in his own name. In the meantime Seymour died, and Jay Cooke & Co. became bankrupt. When the debt was subsequently compromised, a written assignment to the United States from his administrator of the deposit account was accepted, and claim was accordingly made by the government on the trustee of Jay Cooke & Co. The claim, however, was treated as that of the depositor, Seymour, by the trustee, and the dividends declared from time to time were set aside and retained Parts of these dividends were in scrip or stock of the Northern Pacific railroad, which was at the time of small value. Their scrip or stock remained with the trustee until very recently, when it was transferred to the government, which thereby received not only the amount of the original claim, but 25 per cent. additional.

GENERAL CURTIS'S CASE Washington, November 15 .- It is suppose that all the little wrinkles in the decision of the supreme court in the Curtis political as-sessment case have been smoothed out and that it will be read to-morrow. It will be in the nature of a funeral sermon over the grave pell. The immediate practical effect decision will be to subject General Curtis to the pains of the penalty imposed upon him in New York. Hubbell, while keeping strickly within the letter of the law, grossly violated its spirit. In one instance he came perilously near violating the letter. The story goes that one of the lecches whom he sent into the treasury department did not suck blood fast enough? so he had a clerk who was originally appointed because of his dis-tinguished services as a leech, discharged from the bureau in which he was comboyed and proceeded to set him at work collecting and proceeded to set him at work collecting assessments. The clerk was reappointed last year to his old position and rather expects promotion. A CATTOUS MAN.

WASHINGTON, November 12—La as in prior sessions of congress printer was rapped over the unit congressmen, because he has a printed the last annual agricultural report. The new public printer resolved, when he came into office last spring, that he would not leave himself liable to any such charges. So he made extraordinary preparations for printing the manuscript of the agricultural report as rapidly as it was received from the department. For a time he received plenty of manment. For a time he received plenty of man-uscript for the latest report. Then the supply diminished. By and by it stopped. The public printer was not to be baffled thus. He saw, every day since the day that the manuscript stopped coming, that the commissioner of agriculture was asked for copy, and that the reply "no copy" was noted for future reference. It is understood that he is now receiving copy, required from the department. ceiving copy regularly from the department of agriculture.

WASHINGTON, November, 7.—The resigna-tion of Chief Clerk Mulliken, of the department of justice, revives the story concerning the general weeding out that is found neces-sary in that office. Since the star-route trials and the bribery cases, an investigation was instituted in the department of justice which has developed the serious facts that the star-route ring stood higher with some of Brew-ster's subordinates than the interest of the government. There have been distinct charges made that the subordinates were giving the government cases away. Several have been invited to resign, it is said, and several have been peremtorily removed. It is not known that the chief clerk had any communication with Dorsey & Co., but his head was wanted in order to secure an entirely new outfit. There are several others to follow.

RECLAIMING THE POTOMAC FLATS.

WASHINGTON, November 10.—A great deal of comment is excited here by the action of the engineer in charge of the work of reclaiming the Potomac flats. That officer advections on the state of the s vertised for bids for the dredging work. The lowest bidder was a Washingtonian by the name of Adams. The next lowest was a New Yorker by the name of Ross.

The bid of Adams was nine per cent lower than Ross's. The engineer hesitates about accepting Adams's bid, on the alleged ground that he is not satisfied with Adams's ability to do the work. The milk in the cocoanut is said to be that Ross is a favorite with the kitchen cabinet of the administration. What is wanted is to give him the contract, which will be a fat job as well as a big one. The

By the Breaking of a Guy Three Men are Killed and Others Injured. CLEVELAND, O., November 16 -At five clock last afternoon a strange accident happened at the corner of Seneca and St. Clair treets, where a large block is in process erection. The walls and flooring being up three stories, the boon derrick is a hundred feet high, and is two feet in diameter at the base. It was used to hoist material. Through the breaking or the slacking of a wire guy at the anchorage, as it is supposed, the derrick toppled and broke about twenty feet from the ground and fell with a great crash. Three men were on a platform, about sixty feet from the sidewalk, hoisting a load of about three tons of brick. One jumped and caught the lower guy and slid safely to the ground. The other two, a German named Dietrick Stogan, and a colored man named William Price were so injured that they died soon afterward. Stogan's back was broken and Price was shockingly gled. Another colored man, name unknown, was instantly killed by the derrick falling on jured, but may recover.

THE FALSE PROPHET A FORMER AMERICAN SLAVE

The Palse Prophet of Egypt Claimed as a Porme Pennsylvania Mussulman – Ris Adventures – The Arab Slaves of Eastern Virginia, and Their Progeny, Etc., Etc.

PHILADELPHIA November 16 -In the ear lier part of the present century a large cargo of slaves, direct from the Arabic speaking regions of northern Africa, was secretly landed near Yorktown, Virginia. This shipload of human chattels was delivered to waiting agents. Eight hundred intelligent Mohammedan, light-skinned Africans were distributed among the planters of eastern Virginia. Fierce as untamed tigers, these wild followers of the prophet of Mecca gave the slave-owners more trouble than any other Dixon's line. Many of them escaped north, and their descendants live in Fayette county, this state. Among them are the Blues, Jacksons, Muncys, Patmers, Manaways, and others whose thin lips, high foreheads aquiline noses, intellectual capacity, and splendid physique stamp them at once as superior in every respect to the full-blooded negro. A Philadelphia Times correspondent has found among these people the old home of the great false prophet of Soudan. His story, which will be published to morrow, is this: Among the escaped Mohammedans were George Johnson and wife. George's real name was Beyash el Azwah. He was a shiek and priest of the order of Ilami. For several years he lived in the mountains near Cornells ville, but, fearing recapture, went to Canada. In 1850 he returned to Pennsylvania and settled at Uniontown. In 1854 he removed to Brownsville, and subsequently to Pitts-burg, where he died in 1877, at a very advanced age. In 1830, while at Cornellsville Thomas was born. At the age of ten Thomas had learned the Koran from his fa-ther, and could repeat hundreds of pages. No turreted mosque reared its massive walls; no bearded muezzin called the ex-slave and his family to worship; but Beyash-el-Azwah never forgot "There is but one God, and Moham med in His prophet," and in a land of Cbristian strangers, secretly adhered to the faith of his fathers. In 1849 Thomas Johnson drifted to California, to return to Uniontown two years later. In 1853 he went to Par.s and joined the French army. He was sent to Al-giers. At the close of his term of service he pined a caravan, and crossed the great Deser years lived among the natives almost inaccessible region. that With mastery of the Koran, and his superb knowl edge of the arts of civilization, especially of war, he forged to the front as a leader. In 1862, when he heard of the war of the rebel-lion, and was fired with an ambition to help free the slaves of the south, he wrote a long letter to President Lincoln, offering to recruit a thousand Arab zouaves for the union army, if the United States government would fur nish transportation. The letter got into the newspapers, and was published as a great oke. He returned just as the war closed Yet no more enthusiastic lover of the union cause stood upon Pennsylvania avenue in the city of Washington on the day of the last grand parade of the federal armies than the tall red-cap Sheik Johnson, fresh from the wilde of Africa. After calling on the Turkish minister he After caling on the Turkish minister he visited Connellsville, Uniontown, Brownsville, then Pittsburgh, to see his father. In August he went to Egypt. There, as is the daty of all Mohammedans he made a pilgrimage to the tomb of the prophet at the sacred city of Mecca. Returning to Soudan he acquired a greater influence than ever over the semi-civilized inhabitants of that extended the semi-civilized inhabitants of that exten sive country, and claimed prophetic powers.

As time rolled on his wealth and power increased, and when the English invaded Egypt he proclaimed himself El-Mehdt, or the last whenever an opportunity offers.
Residents on the frontier also suggest While Pash was suffering defeat, rumor had it that the false prophet was achieving extraordinary victories and slaving thousands taries of the Amazon, a few months ago in search of slaves and produce. It may be ad ded that one of the false prophet's hundred wives is a native of Fayette county, an octooon from Uniontown. She accompanied him o Mecca and to Africa in 1865, and is said to be the mistress of his harem. She, too, is a direct descendent of the Arabs of the slave ship of Yorktown. When Mr. Mcthe spinal cord. When Mr. Mc-Caul visited her first he found her confined to a bed in a darkened room, as anything like a moderate amount of light caused her intense pain in the head, and during her whole sickness she has never been without more or less pain, while on some occasions the pain was most excruciating. Although suffering so much from bodily infirmities, she was one of the most joyous of believers, and seemed completely reconciled to her lot, though assured by her attending physician, Dr. Mc-Bean, of Martintown, that she could never recover the use of her lower limbs, and further that she might die at almost any time. Her Bible seemed to be her constant companion, and she drew from it great consolation. Mr. McCaul was so much interested in this strange case that after his return to the city he had special prayers for her at his weekly meetings. The prayers however which are sup-posed to have had the first effect were by her own family, who were religious people. Mrs. Scott, the patient's mother, who is a person of intelligence, relates the matter connected with the sudden and startling recovery as follows: October 31, last, the relator asked a lady visitor what she thought of the faith cure. The interrogated was not able to answer, but it was subsequently resolved to adourn to Margaret's bed-room to hold a solemn hour of prayer for the recovery of the helpiess and hopeless, three years bed ridden The ladies all adjourned to the bedchamber, and Mrs. Scott says: "When I knelt down it seemed as if the only prayer I could offer was: 'Lord help my unblief.' We were and it seemed as if a pin could be heard drop, ping on the floor. After continuing in prayer for some time, I was about to rise, when that passage became strongly impressed on my mind: Though it tarry, wait for it, because it will surely come, and will not tarry.'

While I was considering if I ought to consider this as a command to continue longer at prayer, Maggie repeated about the same passage, and I resolved to continue praying. Maggie now began to repeat other resolved to continue passages of scripture, and her voice seemed so strong that I looked up, and, seeing her eyes closed and a strange look on her face, I began to fear that she was about to die, and that thus she would be delivered from all her earthly pains. While I was still looking at her she repeated aloud: 'Behold, the bride-groom cometh. Go ye out to meet him.' She at once opened her eyes, and, pushing aside the bed-clothes, turned her feet out on the floor and sat up in the bed. I was almost paralyzed, but did not move from my knees at once. She stood upright on the floor, when I sprang from my knees, and, clasping her in my arms, called all the family to come with me to praise the Lord. Maggie kneeled down with us and joined in our praise-meeting without suffering any pain, al-though she had been suffering severely a few noments before. We then arose from our knees and walked out to Mr. Scott's room, Maggie walking alone and not seeming to feel any bad effects from the bright light although she had not looked on a bright light for three

Independent witnesses from this city have visited the residence of Mr. Scott, and from family, neighbors, and medical men have had the above statements all verified. The girl is been in well and seems to be investigated. keeping well and seems to be improving from day to day. The Rev. Mr. McCaul is a staid, sober, worthy man, who would not lend him-self to deception whatever. The whole matter having been related at a prayer meeting here has created a sensation.

The Situation in Pensacola.

Pensacola, November 16. - Five new cases or fever are reported to-day, causing some trepidation among those residents who have just returned. It has been announced today by the superintendent of this division on the Louisville and Nashville railroad that all quarantine against Pensacola has been re-moved. The newspapers thus far have given us no information on the subject. The regular passenger trains resume their trips to-night to run henceforward twice daily. The Louis-ville and Nashville railroad, which has shown much liberality throughout the epidemic, has reduced the rates for returning nurses to two dollars and fifty cents from Pensacola to New Orleans and Mobile.

The speaker announced as the special order the question as to whether there is a vacancy in the offices of judge and solicitor of the Northeastern\circuit. The judiciary committee had submitted two reports on the question. The majority was in favor of electing the officers, declaring that the terms of the present incumbents have expired. The minority report declares that the present incumbents were elected for four years, and that there is no vacancy. The adoption of the majority report was moved. As a substitute, Mr. Gray, of Richmond, moved the adoption of the majority report. On this question Mr. Gray addressed the house at length. He argued ably on the legal bearings of the question. This circuit was created by the last legislature and in four days the judge and solicitor were elected. There was no vacancy. They were elected for full clected. There was no vacanelected for full of his position. The argument was exhaustive and able. Mr. Silman of Jackson, in relarized Mr. Gery said that the scheme of plying to Mr. Gary, said that the scheme of the constitution was that one-half of the judges should be elected every two years. That was the opinion when these officers were elected. It is the That was the officers were elected It is the opinion of the people of the circuit that these officers are to be elected. Mr. artlett, of Bibb, spoke in opposition to the najority report. He thought the law was majority report. He thought the law was plain on the subject, and read from decisions to justify his position. Mr. Sweat, of Clinch, argued clearly in favor of the majority report, and gave his reasons why he thought there were vacancies in the Wortheastern circuit that ought to be filled. Mr. Lewis, of Milton, argued in favor of electing the judge and solicitor, and thought that the legislature had a right to place this cir-cuit in either set of the circuits to be filled every two years. Mr. Falligant, of Chatham, argued for the minority report. The committee had very carefully examined the entire question and planted itself squarely on the law. Such legal minds as General Toombs Colonel Hammond and Judge Sam. Hall had investigated the question and declared that there was no vacancy in the Northeastern circuit. The attempt to limit these terms to two years is in direct conflict with the consti-tution and must fall before the superior law. Mr. Falligant's clear reasoning and polished called forth the applause of the The previous question was or-Mr. Hoge, of Fulton concluded debate for the committee. the debate for the committee. He said that the clear understanding was that these officers were to be elected by this legislature. This was the opinion of the last legislature, of the people of the circuit, of the neumbents themselves. If there is doubt as o whether the act of the legislature is constitutional we ought to give the act the bene-stitutional we ought to give the act the benefit of the doubt. The law says that the term of the office shall be four years—not the term of the incumbent. The legislature limited the term of these incumbents to place this district in one of the two classes which are elected every two years. All of the terms of the judges must begin on the 1st of January after their election. The substitute was lost by 28 to 80. The majority report ordering the election of judge and solicitor for the Northeastern circuit was then agreed to.

UPSON COUNTY.

An En.husiastle Native's Eulogistic Description Middle Georgia.

From the Middle Georgia.

From the Middle Georgia Times.

Upson county, in many respects, is the most remarkable county in the state. The lands are varied in soil. In portions of the county the land is,gray or mulatto soil and is wonderful for its production of cotton, potatoes, oats, rye, etc., and is easily cultivated. In the rections of the county the clay is personnel. other portions of the county the clay is per-fectly red and the soil dark or black, and will produce anything almost that is planted in it, but is especially adapted to the production of corn, wheat, fruit and vegetables of almost any kind. Besides this there is much rich river, creek and branch bottom land that never fails to make an abundant crop when properly cultivated. Much of the soil is adapted to the growth of fruit, such as peaches apples, pears, grapes, etc., all which grow in luxuriant abundance. limate and water is excellent, making it one of the most healthy counties in the state. The women are beautiful and charming. Many of them would rival the historic beauty of Cleopa-tra, whose dazzling charms turned the head of that stern old soldier and Roman consul, Mark Antony, of heathen Greece, whose adduction caused a twenty-two years seige and destruction of ancient Troy. Her mer are generous, industrious, moral and brave Many bones of her dead heroes who laid down their lives in defense of a cause, "though lost still just," lie bleaching upon more than a hundred battle fields. The voice of the councils of the state and nation. There was Gordon, Smith and others, it was no our intention to speak of the beautiful, the great, the wise and wealthy, but to refer to the many advantages of the county as dwelling place or home. Lands are cheap society good, churches and schools are con venient to all parts of the county. We know of no better farming county in the state.

THE WATER POWERS.

There is no truth more apparent to the thinking men of the period than the fact that the cotton mills must ere long move to the cotton fields of the south. The time is com ng, if it has not come already, when will be little profits to manufacturers in haul ing the raw material over thousands of mile of railroad to the loom, especially when it i est there too is the climate best adapted to the manufacture of the staple it produces t is surely a reasonable presumption tha where this sun plant grows well it product can be handled best. Ex product perience has proved that in a climate such as that of middle Georgia, cloth made of cotton comes from the loom without broken threads or knots-smooth and regular yard after yard—while in more rigor-ous atmospheres fires are kept up at a great expense to produce that humidity inside the mills which is natural here. Hence there has not been so many cotton factories erect-ed in the northern states during the past few years as formerly in the same period whilst in the south, especially in Georgia, the building of cotton mills is rapidly increasing. It seems natural that this should be so; and from the full Chattahoochee to the Savannah, on a line drawn sixty or seventy miles north of Columbus, Macon and Augusta, there are destined to stand the chief cotton manufactories of the southern s if not of the union. Dr. Thomas P. J commissioner of agriculture, in his "Manuel of Georgia," says: "Since the difference in elevation between the mouths and sources of our rivers vary from 1,000 to 3,000 feet—it is reasonable to conclude from such data alone that the water power of Georgia, if equal d are not excelled by those of any other Amer-can state." And such is the fact, as is in-dosed by the statement of Professor George Little, state geologist, who was required to make official measurements. This gentle man, in his official report states: "The principle water powers of Georgia are found north of a line passing through Colum-bus, Macon and Augusta. The waters of the branch s, creeks and small rivers of this eleva ted region are accumulated several hundred feet above the ocean level, and precipitated from the tough metamorphic rocks upon the lower tertiary country below, thus forming some of our most gigantic water powers, at ar elevation entirely free from malaria, and im regions of Carolina, Georgia and Alabama."

In this connection we wish to direct attention to the stupendous water powers afforded by Potato, Tobler and Ten Mile creeks in Upson county. These streams, perhaps, furnish the best water powers in Georgia. water powers in Georgia. There are already two large cotton mills on Tobler creek. The Waynmanville and the Flint river factories only a few miles apart. They are paying large dividends on the investments and it is large dividends on the investments and invest surprising that moneyed men do not invest in some of the unimproved powers on these creeks and erect cotton mills Nothing would pay better. They are convenient to the railroads. What is known as the Rogers's factory shoals on Potato creek (where the factor was burned during the war) is only two mile from Thomaston and a splendid road leads from town to the shoals. About the same distance from Thomaston on another road, but on the same creek, is the Nelson shoals. These shoals alone will furnish power suffi cient to run almost any amount of machin-ery, and the water can be controlled at a small expense. Individuals or companies wishing to invest in any kind of manufacturing can-not do better than erect them in the county of Upson, where the water powers can be pur-chased cheap, the water controlled at a small expense and at the same time be convenient to the railroad.

THE CHURCHES, There are various religious denominations in the county, consisting principally of Missionary Baptist, Primitive Baptist and Methodist. All the denominations have good churches. In the country, the Primitive Baptist has the largest membership, but in Thomaston the Missionary Baptists and the Methodist churches are in the lead. We could Methodist churches are in the lead. We could say much more of the advantages of the grand old county, but time and space forbids it.

ALLEN FORT.

Sketch of the Life of the New Judge of the South-western Circuit.

From the Americus, Ga., Republican.

Judge Fort was born in Stewart county on the 14th of July, 1849. He graduated at the university of Georgia, in 1867, at the age of eighteen, and sharing the first honor with a comrade. He read law under Colonel Willis Hawkins, and came to the bar in 1868. He has three times represented Sumter county in the legislature; was a delegate to the national democratic convention in 1876, and represented the state on the commit-tee that notified Governor Tilden of his nomination. He has been prominent as a possible candidate for congress in the third district. While in the legislature was prominent on several leading commites, acting for sometime as chairman of the udiciary committee of the house. He was elected by the house one of the managers in he Renfroe impeachment trial, and he and A. H. Cox conducted the argument before the senate. He was chairman of the M. & B. R. R. committee and was the the bill seiling that road. He He was chairman pro tem. of the railroad committee, and man pro tem. of the railroad committee, and in connection with Hon. Mr. Rankin, of Gordon, drafted the Fort-Rankin railroad bill, and secured the passage through the house of this bill, which, with the senate amendments, constitute our present railroad. commission law. He is an accomplished lawyer, a popular gentleman and will be a valuable accession to the bench of Georgia. He is the youngest judge on the bench of Georgia, as he was the youngest representative when a nember of the house. If he sustains the rep utation already won, as a judge, there is no trust in the gift of Georgians to which he will not be eligible. We wish him eminent suc-cess as judge of the Southwestern circuit.

How Many Gallons Make a Bushel?
From the Dublin, Ga., Post.
Mr. W. H. Hudson stepped into the live grocery store Saturday evening and asked how many gallons make a bushel. He wanted to measure shelled corn in a gallon pot. He was surprised to be told that he could not measure corn at all with a gallon measure, and nothing but ocular demonstration could convince him that eight liquid quarts do vince him that eight liquid quarts do not make a peck. A great many people think eight gallons make a bushel, but nine gallons fall short of a bushel by about seventy-nine cubic inches. The trouble arises from the difference in the sizes of quarts. The dry measure quart is larger than the liquid measure quart. We have been led to make note of this in our local column by telling the above circumstance in quite a crowd of intelligent gentlemen and in quite a crowd of intelligent gentlemen and noticing that every single one of them, like Mr. Hudson, thought that eight gallons ought to make a bushel. In like manner seven men out of ten-and among them many physicians-think that there are 480 grains of qui nine in an ounce bottle, whereas a close scrutiny of their old arithmetics would show that there are only 437½ grains. These are both lessons of an eminently practical character, but the ordinary school methods are too dreamy to reach anything practical. The Morals of Sparrows.

From the Rome, Ga., Bulletin It is said of animals that they have a lan guage that is perfectly intelligible to them, and that they are far more intelligent than they were formerly considered to be. This they were formerly considered to be. This also applies to birds, as fully attested by their susceptibility to instruction. Birds have their code of morals and their laws, a violation of which subjects the oftender to severe punishment. We had an ocular demonstraiton of proof of this a few days ago. Our attention was attracted in crossing the street to an unusual days ago. Our attention was attracted in crossing the street to an unusual bustle among a pack of sparrows in a tree.

They were fluttering and twittering away in a most earnest and excited manner. We stopped to watch them. They all seemed exas-perated, and the object of their anger was one of their number. They assailed it vigor-ously, and the little culprit left the tree and flew to the ground and endeavored to cover and hide itself by throwing dirt over itself with its wings. The flock followed and assaulted it unmercifully with their wings, and would have doubtless killed it, when we became indignant and dispersed the flock by throwing a stone at them. We regretted that we could not watch the result, but have no doubt that the attack was repeated when our doubt that the attack was renewed when our

We are glad—truly glad, it was late, for had such a horrid object been thrust to our view in open day-light, doubtless our timid reporter would have fainted. It was by accident we saw this skeleton-like addition to mortal frame, for had we anticipated such a ghastly sight, most assuredly we would have been somewhere

Lots of syrup.

From the American Recorder.

We were informed Saturday, by a osted gentleman, that an enormous lot of yrup was being made in Sumter. Last year the merchants could hardly sell syrup barrels at any price, but this year its hard to sup-ply the demand. Our farmer friends are beginning to get into such a condition financially that they do not have to raise cotton and so they raise something that the more money in. A common acre of will raise enough cane to extract 300 or 400 gallons of syrup from, and it seldom gets as low as 25 cents per gallon.

The weather is fine for the time of year Potato digging time has come, and James D. Hardy has raised a yam potato 20 inches long; but H. M. Martin can beat it, he has one, so the neighbors say, so large that he had to hew on it with a broad-axe for two hours to get pieces to make a pudding for a corn shucking. After hewing for some time he cut into a nest of rats from which thirteen rood rats ran out about the size of a cat squirrel.

THE CORWIN'S CRUISE.

Incidents of a Voyage in the Arctic Regions-Striking Comments.

Washingros, November 16.—The report of Lieutenant Healy, commander of the revenue steamer Corwin, covering the operation of the vessel on her second northern cruise up to the 24th ult., has been received at the treasury department, having been mailed from Ounalaska. Lieutenant Healy says of the natives of St. Lawrence bay: "For the benefit of any who may be cast upon the hospitality and who may be cast upon the hospitality and kindly feeling of the natives along the northern shore, I would most earnestly recommend that some token of appreciation be offered them. This will insure the extension of that that some token of appropriate them. This will insure the extension of that hospitality and the protection which, to castaways, means life itself." With regard to the matter of the Putnam, he says: "We learned from the St. Lawrence Islanders that on the sixth day after the departure of the Rodger's crews the body of the unfortunate master of the Putnam was found on the ice between the north and south head. From tween the north and south head. the story they tell, it appears that a few days the story they tell, it appears that a few days after their departure an easterly wind sprang up which freshening into a gal, caused the ice to float into the bay and form pack, filling its entire extent. Upon the is the natives hunted the seal, and during the excursion repeatedly saw the body of Putnam, and by his side, revolvers, a sled and skeleton of a dog. Early in August the Corwin entered the Arctic ocean. After a day's cruise here, she spoke a number of whaling fleets. The captain of the bark George and Susan reported the loss of the steam whater North Star, which was crushed in the ice, July 8, and the Corwin relieved him of one of her wrecked seamen, the remainder having sailed for San Francisco by the Thomas Pope. Captain Heally says: "I was particularly sorry nat during our trip so far to the eastward the weather would not allow me to take any astronomical observations. We ran lines of soundings, would not allow me to take any astronomical observations. We ran lines of soundings, however, during the entire cruise in the arctic; and, while we found that to the westward of Point Barrow along the coast the soundings as marked upon the charts are very correct, those to the westward are to some degree incorrect.

It recommended that a line of soundings

It recommended that a line of soundings be made along the coast from Point Barrow to McKinzie river.

Captain Healy visited the habitations of the natives of King's island, and in the Arctic ocean, a curious people who live upon a precipitous hillside as no other people live. He says that houses are erected upon poles, and entrance to each is effected through a hole in the front wall, about fourteen inches in diameter. The Corwin is now on return voyage, by way of Sitka, to San Francisco. "Rough on Corns."

HOLME'S LINIMENT MOTHER'S FRIEND!

One of the greatest comforts to these expe to be confined is a remedy upon which implicit e fidence can be placed—one that will produce a safe and quick delivery—one that will control pain and shorten the duration of labor. Such is "THE MOTEma's FRIEND." Try it and see what

A Blessing it is to Suffering Females. A Blessing it is to Suffering Females.

This Liniment when used two or three weeks before confinement, produces a wonderful effect, causing a very easy and quick labor, with comparatively little pain, and leaves the mother in a coadition to recover quickly or in other words to have a good getting up. Under its use, labor will ordinarily occupy much less than the usual time, and the suffering be diminished byyond expression.

The condition for which this remedy is offering the sufficiency. Those interested in its use are respecfully referred to the hundreds who have used it.

READ THE TESTIMONIALS: I most earnestly entreat every female expecting to be confined to use the "THE MOTHERS' FRIEND." Coupled with this entreaty, I will add that during a large obstetrical practice (forty-four years), I have never known it to fail to produce a safe and quick delivery.

H. J. HOLMES, M. D., Atlanta, Ga.

A lady from one of the counties of Middle Georgia, who has been acting as midwife for many years, writes: "I have disposed of all TRE MOTE-ER'S FRIEND you sent me, and I am DELIGHTED WITH IT. In every instance where it has been used its effects have been all that I could ask." CONSIDER IT A GREAT BLESSING."

A gentleman writes: "My wife used your MornEr's Fairen a ther fourth confinement, and he'
testimony is that she passed through it with onehalf of the suffering of either of her former confinements, and recovered from it in much less time.
She also recommended it to a lady friend who was about to be confined for the first time, and abs
says: 'I HAVE NEVER SEEN ANY ONE PASTHROUGH THIS GREAT TRIAL WITH SO MUCE EASE AND SO LITTLE SUFFERING."

The names of all these, and many others, can be

LETTER FROM A TRAVELER.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., September 20, 1882. I think it a duty I owe to humanity to say that your reme dy has done for me. One yar ago I contracted a bad case of blood disese, and not knowing the result of such tybbles, I allowed it to run on for some tipe, but finally applied to the best physicilin in this city, who treated me for six minths. In that time I took over 600 pills minths. In that time I took over 600 pills of protolodide of mercury 4 erain each minths. In that time I took over 600 pliss of brotofodide of mercury, ½ grain each, and had run down in weight from 210 to 157 poinds, and was confined to my bed with mecurial rheumatism, scarcely able to turn my lift in bed. Being a traveling man, some of le fraternity found me in this deplorable of ition, and recommended me to try your siles of the confidence of the c

After persistently taking it two months he was cured. Being acquainted with him for twenty years thereafter, I can testify that the disease never made its return.

During that time I energetically applied in the healing art of the physicians here (burn internal and external) and in connectant with the Celebrabated Thermal hot baths, and in addition have taken might and a hundred bottles of various mecaines without the desired result. ONE of the strangest tales told of late is to send Abraham Lincoln a regiment of Be daween for service in the late war. It is certainly true that the wife of the grand shereef of Morocco is an Englishwoman, andthat travellers com e across renegades of all sort in un expected places, but one of the most unexpectsed places to find an American ex-slave, is leader of Moslem hosts POOSTMASTER-GENERAL Howe has finally concluded, so the public are gravely inform ed, not to recommend in his annual repor the establishment of post-office saving banks in connection with the money order system of the post-office department. The ancient postmaster-general thinks the time for such banks are now past. A postal bank system presupposes a permanent national debt, and in a few years there will be no government bonds'on the market and hence no basis u which to build a postal savings banks system. This is certainly horse sense, and congress may be induced to look at the matter in this ight.

DEATH that wanders and waits in the noisome depths of the stagnant sewer is one of the most hideous of haunting figures. Warnings against this are too often of little avail until too late. Eight years ago Baltimore was visited by the clammy cholera. To-day Providence is suffering from 250 cases of typhoid fever, while ten of the forty-seven cases of death last week were due to this disease. This death rate raises the yearly average from about seventeen per 1,000, which it has been for twenty out of the thirty-eight weeks of the last year, to over twenty-one. This is due to defective drainage and slipshod sewerage. Every year or so a similar tale comes from an American city. How soon will it be our time?

THE False Prophet now has a rival on the Bosphorus in his own branch of the business The new False Prophet is none other than the Sultan himself. When the 1260th anniversary of the hegira of Mohammed was celebrated it was made known that the expected Mahdi or Messiah had been discovered in the Sultan The faithful can therefore support him, and he can proceed to put down the Soudan pretender. The Sultan's counsellors were forced to accept the prophecies about the coming at this time of a new prophet, and they were then compelled to set up a prophet; for if they did not the fanatics would accept the prophet of Soudan, and trouble would begin in all parts of the Moslem world. As a shrewd political measure the new man promises well, although he has not thus far been a zealous de fender of the faith.

THE COMING SESSION OF CONGRESS. The short session of the present congres will be opened two weeks from next Monday and already members and senators are arriving in Washington, making arrangements for the winter and with minds intent upon new measures and fresh schemes. The ses sion will necessarily be a busy one, and in view of the recent political upheaval, probably a stormy one. It is limited to two months from which time must be deducted two or more weeks on account of the holiday recess The eleven regular appropriation bills will require all the available time unless they are reported promptly and expedited afterwards beyond the best record. The republicans are striving however, to make up for short comings in the past by getting several of the bills ready before congress meets. They intend, too, it is said, to report at an early day a tariff bill and an internal revenue reduction bill. They are now endeavoring to get their high tariff committee on way, and means together, but be-tween Mr. Carl sle, who is down the river, and the mer be who have become indiffer-rum can be obtained before the meetof congress. This eleventh hour ing repentance of the republicans is too gauzy anyway. They are scared into but not converted to economy and reform, and their frantic efforts to reduce taxation and push on legislation are rather ludicrous in this emergency. The democrats will doubtless see that the appropriations are cut down to the real needs of the government, and that any tax or tariff bill presented for passage contains more for the people than the mo nopolies. Failing to secure all this they will loubtless put an end to the policy of passing bills on the jump merely for the purpose of aving a sinking party.

PUBLIC EDUCATION IN GEORGIA. We have been favored with a copy of the address of Dr. J. L. M. Curry, agent of the Peabody educational fund, delivered before the American missionary association at Cleveand, Ohio, on the "National Problem of Southern Education." The address is a very suggestive one, and we could wish that it night be brought to the attention of the leglature now in session in this city. It is full of figures and statements intended to enighten the audience before which it was delivered, but these figures and statements are interesting even at home. Curry, arguing in favor of national aid to the southern states in this important matter, goes over the whole ground afresh, and brings to the subject the illumination of an extraordinarily brilliant mind. A great deal has been accomplished in Georgia in the direction of public education, but the representatives of the people have displayed undue caution-a sad lack of enterprise, we might say-in doing their whole way the north Georgians are developing duty in the premises. What has been accomplished thus far has been mainly due to the personal efforts-the unfaltering devotion-of the state commissioner of public education. With a zeal rarely matched, this officer has gone from county to county impressing his views upon the people, upon grand juries, and upon individuals. The result has been the creation of a public sentiment in the direction of popular education which the members of the legislature are somewhat slow to appreciate. But even if there were no public sentiment on the subject; the legislature ought to understand the responsibilities that the result of the war has thrust upon the state. The ne groes are citizens, they have the right to vote. They do vote, and their votes are counted, and every vote cast in ignorance is a menace to the institution not only of Georgia, but of the whole country. Here is a large number of clizens who neither understand nor appreciat the responsibilities of that the now celebrated "false prophet" of the Soudan is an American ex-slave. It is said that he is the same man who offered up which has the rest aints neither of intel ligence nor of fam y discipline to directhem. This new generation must be educated.

> We are perfectly well aware that education is not a complete remedy for the evils of ig norant suffrage; but it is a partial one, a any rate it is the best we have at hand, and the state owes it to itself and to all of its citizens to provide such facilities as its will permit. It is said. resources and truthfully said, that many of the negroes who receive some of the benefits of education are lazy, shiftless and worthless out is it the fault of education? Is it the fault of education that some very accom plished men are rogues and swindlers? If so, we may as well admit that ignorance is an incentive to industry and morality. The ruth is, ignorance is a terrible drawbael wherever it is found, whether among the whites or among the blacks, and every interest of the state requires that it should be fought with education and enlightenment. Education is not a specific for shiftlessness and immorality, but it is a great aid in the direction of reform.

It is to be hoped that the present legislature will see its way clear to the framing of a general law authorizing counties, towns and communities to levy local taxes in the interest of public educa tion. This will give the people in every section of the state an opportunity to take advantage of the public sentiment which undoubtedly favors an increase of educational facilities. When this is done, the wise heads of the general assembly should devise some method of enlarging the public fund, so that the school year may be made a little longer n the schools that are already established.

THE Augusta News, usually sane on general opics, says that in less than two years every ember of the legislature who voted for Colquitt will "stink in the nostrils of the people.

This is not only absurd, but it is wicked. The News ought surely to hold up at least in its abuse of Colquitt.

EDITOR PLEASANT A. STOVALL, of the Augusta Chronicle, after hunting around for the rings, and bosses, and corruption alluded to by the Arcadians, fails to find any. Evidently here is a young man who will not allow himself to be deceived by the hue and cry raised by the would-be dictators.

HARVARD, which turns out longeared oarsmen and pase-ball players by the hundred, doesn't want to confer the degree of doctor of laws on Ben Butler. The truth is Ben has no time new to doc tor any laws. He has been selected to doctor Massachusetts, and he knows just how to do it.

MODJESKA was suspicious the other night that Mrs. Langtry intended to steal the points of her 'Rosalind.' This was very absurd. Mrs. Langtry went to Modieska's theatre merely to test the effect of a new dress and bonnet. This shows that she is a true female artist.

THE Farnesville Gazette has been giving us read ers a supplement for so long that it has now settled down as a handsome twelve page paper about a column less in width than ours. Editor McMichae know how to make a model country weekly, and General Sherman, it might be thought, would be ripe for a political campaign. If the republicans act upon the Ingersoll suggestion, which may be doubted, no course wil be open to the democrats but to oppose William Tecumseh with Philip Henry. The republicans would have to contemplate the loss of the Methodistic faction if Sherman were nominated, since the general is regarded as a relative-in-law to the Catholic church. But the democrats would for the same reason, unless they took means to stay the defection, be forced to contemplate the wholesale desertion of the Catholic vote to Sherman, for the war that would be made on him because of the church membership of his wife would naturally call cut their practical sympathy. In addition to personal membership in the church, Sheridan has a fine, ringing, Celtic name, which would hold the Irish vote and compel its enthusiasm. It would be a very pretty fight between the two generals. If the Methodists disgruntled by both nominations, should conclude to run Grant, the engagement would become altogether general. The great leaders in the war of the rebellion striving for a four years' chieftaincy of the republic would be a memorable campaign. And the certainty that, whichever of them won, the post of chaplain general would be created for the Rev. Mr. Ingersoll would reconcile the country to the outcome, whatever it might be.

The Atlanta Constitution has again shown reat journalistic enterprise, in securing almost complete returns from the 7th and 9th districts he morning after the election. Heretofore, when the election was close, it required a week or two to have sufficient returns to indicate the success-ful man. Wednesday's Constitution gave the full vote from every county but one. Several couriers were required to ride as much as forty miles on Tuesday night, in order to bring in the returns.

The widow was in humble circumstances, and compe ted, with more or less success, with Hop Lee, Wa See and other interloping foreigners for a living. In other words, she took in washing. Now it happened that the third member of the family was sedate old tabby cat, and this humble member of her tribe led a miserable life, owing to the practical jokes perpetrated upon her by the head of the household, Tommy. One day Tommy fell into deep thought as he gazed upon the miserable object of his jokes. He was wracking his brains for some new and novel mode of torture, that he might have an afternoon's frolic with Tabby. He had about exhausted all the stock ways of teasing a cat, and Tabby had become a wreck and so used to torture that she might with impunity have rented herself out to a vivisectionist without turning a hair At last the eye of Tommy lighted upon a barrel standing in one corner of the kitchen. DISTRIBUTING FOOD FISH.

Washington, November 14.—The old Armory building in this city, which was built thirty years ago for the accommodation of the citizen soldiery of the District of Columbia, is now devoted to more peaceful uses. A Tribune correspondent who visited it Wednesday found the first floor occupied by a portion of the paraphernalia of the United States fish commission, and by several of Professor Baird's assistants who are just now busily engaged in preparing some thousands of young carp for their journey to different parts of the country. During the last week about 25,000 of these fish were shipped, and to-day 16.000 more were to be sent. Of the 25,000 already shipped 1,000 were destined to stock ponds in Pennsylvania, 2,000 for New York, 6,600 for Massachusetts and other New England states, 1,200 for Columbus, Ohio, 12,400 for Kentucky, 1,600 for Virginia, and the remainder for How Young Carp are Sent to Applicants Throughout the Country.

Massachusetts and other New England states, 1,200 for Columbus, Ohio, 12,400 for Kentucky, 1,600 for Virginia, and the remainder for Maryland and to individuals in other states. The 16,600 for be shipped to day are mainly for Iowa and Minnesota. About 27,000 young fish still remain in the tanks at the Armory; and there still remains to be drained the larger of the two propagating ponds, so it is probable that Professor. Baird will be able to distribute more than 100, to 100 of the young of this food fish this present a utumn.

In reply to a question, the professor said that from 12,000 to 15,000 c. up ponds in all have been stocked since the commission began the work. About 10,000 applications are now on file from different parts of the union, and new applications are constantly received at the rate of fifty to one hundred per d. W. As the value of the carp for food, the ease with which it is kept, and the rapidity with which the species multiplies, as well as that of its growth, become known in a country or neighborhood, the demand for young fish to stock new ponds of course increases. The bards constitution of the carp renders growth, become known in a country or neighborhood, the demand for young fish to stock new ponds of course increases. The hardy constitution of the carp renders its transportation alive and in good condition from place to place an easy matter, and is another strong point in its favor. Small tin buckets partly filled with water are now extensively used for this purpose. Each of these buckets has a capacity of about one gallon, and is fitted with a cover, in which are two small holes for the admission of air. Twenty young fish can make a long journey by express in one of these buckets very comfortably without a change of water. A year or two ago, as an experiment, a common tin bucket containing a few live carp was sent by express to Commissioner Blackford in New York, with a request that if the fish were alive when he received them, he would reship them to Washington without changing the water. He did so, and when they reached Washington again after a week's absence, the fish were found in good condition and did not appear to suffer after remaining another week in the same water, although the bucket stood in exercise of the suffer in the meantime. The small appear to suffer after remaining another week in the same water, although the bucket stood in a warm room in the meantime. The small buckets mentioned are much used in sending carp to individual applicants not too remote from Washington. Where a number of applicants live in the same vicinity a dozen or two dozen buckets are packed in a strong wooden crate and sent by express. For larger with the resulting the results of th shipments ten-gallon tin cans are used, one of which will accommodate from 150 to 200 young fish.

It has been found by experience that the young fish taken from the water in the spring appear to be more tender and do not bear transportation so well as those taken in the autumn. It is found, too, that the growth of the carp in the south is about twice as rapid as in the north. There is a carp now at the Smithsonian Institution which, as a young fish an inch or two in length, was sent to Georgia and placed in a pond where it remained less than a year, when it was sent back to Washington weighing seven pounds, In the latitude of New York and New England, one of Professor Brird's assistants informed the correspondent, the average yearly increase in weight the first year is about three to three and a half pounds. Carp weighing from three to six pounds are occasionally seen on the tables of fish dealers in the Washington martines. bies of fish dealers in the Washington mar-kets, having been taken in the Potomac, into which it is supposed they escaped during a season of high water when the carp ponds were invaded by the river. These fish are esteemed a delicacy and sell at good prices.

Changing Whisky Into Ink. 'I have had an accident here," remarked

"Have just had a barrel of four-year old rye transformed into ink."
"Why, how was that?"
"I was boring a hole in the barrel to put in a faucet, when the bit fell in and almost immediately changed the whisky into ink.

The saloonist went to a barrel and drew out a glass of whisky that was as black as ink and showed it to the reporter,

"What will you do about it?"
"Why, I simply take out about four gallon at a time, put into it a wine-glass full of sweet milk, the black settles to the bottom and I pour off my whisky. Neither the color nor the taste is affected. If too much milk is put in the whisky will be made, too clear."

THE FIGURE OF JUSTICE.

Which Perches on the Dome of the New Fulton County Court House.

The statue of Justice which has lately been placed upon the top of the tower of the new court house starts off with a very interesting bit of history which it is well to record now. To begin with, very few people would imagine that the figure was made in Atlanta. It was, however, and the head was fashioned after that of a very estimable Atlanta lady-Mrs. B. A Mr. Warlick is foreman in the tir hop of J. Warlick & Son, and the task on naking the figure was given to him. He had never done anything of the kind before, but ne laid his plans well, and has been quite uccessful. First, he wanted a model or the head. After work hours, when he was for the head. After work hours, when he was at home, he began to put them into execution. The figure was to be fourteen feet high. Mrs. Warlick is, say, five feet and a half. Taking her for a model it was an easy matter to figure out the proper proportions for the statue of Justice. So many inches of nose, a cerain amount of chin, so far between the yes and so on. Thus the proportions cessary were secured and the plaster head s finally made of a proper size and of per proportions. The eyes were bandaged, Justice is supposed to be blind. Then the ould was made into sections and put tother, and into that the melted zinc was wured and out came the head. The zinc ed and out came the head. The zinc a quarter of an inch thick. A figure the body, gracefully draped, was then e of galvanized iron. The left arm, bare ie elbow, held the the balances, the right was made bare and in the right hand the s held a sword eight feet long. As was her height is fourteen feet, and her was found to be about four hun-ounds. She was taken to the use and a rope was fastened about and connected with a pulley near andred feet above the ground and than the top of the dome. The man nk began to turn the drum, the ne tight and slowly the figure of raised to its position where put upon a pedestal thigh. The figure faces Pryor

The Popular Clothing House,

We would detract nothing from the merit of other Clothing Houses in Atlanta, but we are impressed with the fact that our old friend, A. O. M. Gay, 37 Peachtree street, is determined to outstrip all competition. First of all, he carries a stock that ould do no discredit to a much larger city. His stock is selected with great care and skill, and furnishes such a variety that the taste of every customer can be gratified. Nothing in his line is mis ing from his shelves or drawers, and while he car kind in the South. Articles at ries no shoddy goods he has a line of cheap goods that defies all successful rivalry.

In the finer qualities of dress! coats, overcoats pants, vests, etc., he has exhibited judgment in their purchase, and is offering them at prices unprecedentedly low. It is worth while to visit his store, if for no other purpose than to see the wonderful strides Atlanta is making in the department of business. We are glad to learn that during the resent season his sales have surpassed anything in the history of this standard house. Mr. Gay is ably ssisted in his management by his son, Mr. Sand ford Gay, who is fast evincing an enviable reputa-tion for his business qualities. The corps of sales men have no superiors in the city. Customers may confidently rely on fair treatment, and even the utmost liberality. It ought to be stated that out side of a first class city trade, Mr. Gay is selling heavily to all parts of the country. A large num ber of his customers purchase by order.
